TUESDAY EVENING APRIL 2

PEANUTS FOR INSOMNIA .- Rev. Dr. Theodore B. Lyman, Episcopal Bishop of North Carolina, says: "I think I have made a very valuable discovery, and I am anxious, that others should also erjoy the benefit of it. For nearly two years I have been suffering greatly from sleeplessness at night, and frequently have not been able to sleep more than one or two hours during the night. I' have tried a great number of proposed remedies, some of which have helped me a little but not for any length of time. A little more than a fortnight ago, while staying at the house of a friend in the country, my good hostess brought into the parior, qui e late in the evening, a bountiful supply of f.eshly roasted peannes, As I am very fond of them, when they are not too much cooked, I ate quite freely of them, and soon af ter retired to bed. I found the next morn ing that I had enjoyed the best sleep I had experienced for over a month. I attributed this at once to the peanuts, and determined to try them again the following evening. I did so, and also drank a glass of fresh, sweet milk after I had finished the peanuts. That night I slept still better, and now, for a fort-night, I have partaken of the peanuts and milk every night, and have not only slept remarkably well, but have also fully recovered from a slight attack of indigestion which had troubled me before. I now find that peanuts, carefully roasted and not overdone, so as to be at all burnt, are surely a remedy for sleeplessness and elso for that form of indigestion which produces sleeplessnesss. There is a popular impression that peanuls are indigestible, but I have never found them so unless they were too much roasted or had been roasted many days before. When too much cooked or when stale they certainly are indigestible, but when carefully reasted and fresh they promote digestion. They should be extenshortly before going to bed, and not more than a half pint should be taken. They should be roasted before they are shelled, and shelled only as they are eaten. A half pint of shelled nuts would be too many

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

THE GAZETTE, chronologically, is in the NINETHETH year of its existence, and is not only the oldest paper in the State, but, with few exceptions, in the country.

Notwithstanding the fulness of its years, it has kept, and will continue to keep, abreast of the times in all that pertains to a NEWS paper, furnishing its readers daily with a perfect mirror of passing events, domestic and foreign. Its facilities for obtaining news as they increase are taken advantage of and used for the benefit of its readers, who are thus kept thoroughly posted as to all that is of interest politically, socially, financially or commercially. Special attention is given to matters concerning the State and its welfare, while its local columns contain all that is of the slightest interest to Alexandrians. Its regular correspondence from Washington and Richmond are features of peculiar interest, as attested by the eagerness with which they are read and copied by other papers, while its editorial department, conducted with reference to the best interests of the city, State and country, will continue to advocate what is believed to be right,

With a view to the interest of merchants, farmers and all interested, its commercial columns are carefully edited and its market reports are acknowledged by all to be faithful and accurate.

just, honest and patriotic.

Through all this section of the State, and in all parts of the country where Virginians have located, there will the GAZETTE generally be found, and thus as an advertising medium it has few equals outside the large cities. In the household, counting room and workshop it is an ever-welcome visitor, acceptable alike to old and young, the grave and the gay.
